SEVENTEENTH YEAR

GLOUCESTER, MASS., AUGUST 2, 1913.

PRICE FIVE CENTS

East Gloucester

AUGUST is always the month at East Gloucester and the coming four weeks promises to be fully up to the record of its predecessors.

Miss Helen G. Davis of Boston, the artist, is at the Harbor View on her annual sketching visit.

Mrs. F. G. Beach and cousin, George B. Charmley of New York have returned to the Harbor View for the rest of the season.

Grenville H. Norcross of Boston is making his annual stay at the Harbor View.

Mrs. William B. Thomas and son Harry are making their initial stay at the Harbor View.

Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Milliken, Miss Milliken of Newton are again registered at the Harbor View. Mr. Milliken is of the firm of Jones, McDuffee & Stratton.

The Rockport Shore

THE month of August promises well for this section and the cottage rentals and hotel reservations all along the line are most encouraging.

The Edward at Pigeon cove continues to attract attention. Among those who called on proprietor Wilson this week, evincing a fraternal spirit and extending their good wishes were, manager William A. Warren, Jr. of the Oceanside, Magnolia and Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Martin of the Turk's Head Inn. They were shown about by Mr. Wilson and manager Flannagan and expressed themselves as much impressed with the finished manner in which Mr. Wilson had embodied his ideas relative to the equipment and management of a summer hostelry.

Quite a number of motor parties found their way to the Edward during the week which has

Magnolia

HERE we are in August and the season slipping away like a thief in the night. But yesterday and the shutters of hotel and cottagers were being taken down. Tomorrow and Labor Day and the tintinabulation of the school house bell will remind us that summer seasons are short and on the wing.

August promises to be a busy month at Magnolia. At the Oceanside all the accommodations are booked well in advance and the season will end in a blaze of glory.

Some years ago it was four hotels, the Oceanside, Hesperus, The Magnolia and The Blynman. Gradually the Oceanside got to be the big top with the others the side shows. In the course of time two were destroyed and the other, the Hes-

ONE of the beauty spots of Cape Ann, which never fails to attract attention and comment, is that at the head of Lobster cove, at Annisquam, the whole forming an idyllic New England picture, a favorite theme for the artists' brush.

Miss Helen Fiske is making her usual annual stay at the Harbor View.

Dr. and Mrs. J. M. Green and Miss Lucille of Trenton, N. J., old patrons, have returned to the Harbor View.

Alex Jameson of Indianapolis is at the Harbor View for the season.

Stanley G. Hardy, Charles L. Curry, Blaine Burton and Arthur H. Bastedo, all of Yonkers, N. Y., are a group of college boys spending a season at the Harbor View.

W. G. Schoonmaker and family of Elmhurst, Penn., are making an August stay at the Harbor View. Mr. Schoonmaker is a well known boniface of this locality.

Miss Alice E. Woodbury of Washington, an artist of prominence, has returned to the Harbor View for the rest of the season.

N. S. H. Sanders of Birch Brow, Haverhill, is making an August stay at the Harbor View.

become a favorite for luncheons and dinners and for those exploring this section. Among those who have enjoyed its hospitality include Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Fiske, Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. Harrison, Salem; Miss Alderman, Boston; R. C. Taft, Winchester; Edward B. Townsend, Boston; William D. Mann, Malden; Mrs. Dexter T. Mills, Boston; John A. Thompson, Chicago; E. E. Smith, Fitchburg; Mr. and Mrs. H. Gordon, Roxbury; Mr. and Mrs. John H. Perkins and daughter and Mr. and Mrs. William G. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Preston O. Wass of Gloucester; Mr. and Mrs. Frank F. Brumback of Bass Rocks; Howard Barrows of Rochester.

The family of L. G. Bent of Reading are occupying the W. M. Currier cottage, Atlantic avenue.

Mrs. Ruth Gordon and daughters, Fannie and Bertha, of Cliftondale, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Newcomb, Straitsmouth island.

perus, annexed to the Oceanside, which is now four in one.

The tennis tournament is scheduled to open up on the Oceanside courts the middle of the month. Mr. Overall of St. Louis, who conducted the tourney last year, arrived at the Oceanside last night and immediately got busy arranging the details. The affair will be on the same lines as last year, singles, doubles, men's, women's, and mixed events, with handsome cups for the winners. Open to all summer residents of the North shore.

Many motor parties down the North Shore have made the Green Gables their objective during the week. Outside the membership these parties have been entertained: Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Frost, Miss Frost, West Newton; Mr. and Mrs. Howard Whitcomb, Boston; Mr. and Mrs. James J. Phelan, Michael O'Riordan and Miss and one of the by streets, while nestled in a hollow below at the head of the cove, is the vine embowered homestead of the late Mrs. A. Maria Lane. To the left looking down the cove the steep bank is deeply covered with pines while on the right are the houses of Squam, unchanged in essential respects from two generations ago.

The house with its garden and grounds, in which grow a profusion of those flowers dear to the grandmothers, with its gables has a certain suggestion of an English country home res-

TO ADVERTISERS

The CAPE ANN SHORE, now in its seventeenth consecutive season, is the only summer resort publication on Cape Ann. It reaches every section of the cape, and is the only means of communication of the kind between the merchants and the summer residents. Therefore its value as an advertising medium is self-evident. It contains each week a full and complete account of the social happenings of the summer resort section. It occupies a place by itself in the advertising field, reaching the most profitable customers along the North Shore. Advertisers should remember these facts.

NOTE—August was named for the great Roman Emperor Augustus. During his reign Rome was in its zenith in the arts and commerce. It was the flood tide of the world's civilization since the birth of time. There are three of these great eras, the Augustan, Elizabethan and Victorian—also the two last advocates of equal suffrage. August is also flood tide for the summer resort interests. "There is a tide which, taken at its flood, leads on to fortune."

The Gloucester Water Supply—None Purer or Better Safeguarded in the Country.

A first consideration of any seeker for a summer home should be an investigation of its water supply. This is of paramount importance. Water is the one great agent for disseminating disease, especially the so-called filth diseases, as typhoid and similar diseases, which are contracted by drinking water which has been polluted, generally by sewage.

Of all the sections of this country none has as pure water as that of New England. Free naturally from all mineral and organic matter, it is one of the blessings vouchsafed this section. Pure water is health and this New England water in its purity is one of its strongest assets.

Gloucester is especially fortunate in this connection. Its water supply is obtained from West Gloucester which in area is equal to the entire city proper and contains the smallest number of inhabitants. It is populated only along that little fringe of sea coast known as Magnolia and at West Gloucester mainly at the head of Little River and along a small strip of its low-lying land near the shore. The rest is woodland, preserved in its natural stage, rising high from the shore. Here is Thompson's or Mt. Anne, the highest elevation on the Cape, rising 255 feet above the sea level. From its height a fine view of the surrounding country, into Boston harbor, down the Maine coast and, on a clear day, the White Mountains may be seen from its summit. Some day an observatory will be erected on its crest.

This Mt. Anne tract and a large surrounding area has been given by the Minot brothers as a memorial to their brother Lawrence, and is a public reservation under certain restrictions. It is the natural water shed for two of the city's water storage basins, Haskell's pond and Dike's meadow, the city owning and controlling the rest of the land which constitutes this shed. No human habitation may be erected upon it and therefore it is protected from all pollution, sewage especially. It is from these two basins that the supply is drawn during July and August in each year. The writer recently tried the experiment and is still engaged in the test of taking from the faucet through an approved faucet filter, a two quart bottle Mason jar of this water, sealing it and allowing it to cool in an ice chest. Absolutely no sediment is observed after a week's standing and the color is of the best. Try this for yourself if interested.

And this purity is ensured for all time as all this area is public property. The third source of the water supply, used in the fall, winter and spring, is Wallace pond on the southerly side of the railroad track. Its water shed is Ravenwood Park, a public reservation left to the city as such by the late Samuel E. Sawyer, also ensured from all pollution. This artificial pond shows a little more trace of vegetation than the other two ponds and is therefore, not relied upon in the summer. It will be improved in a few years. These three sources of supply contain enough water to last the city during a four month's drought, so that it will be seen that it is well provided for in this important respect. The city has laid its mains to almost every point where there is a demand for water. All the summer colony is thus supplied.

So in this one important factor of a bountiful and pure water supply, from one of the purest and best natural supplies in the world, the advantages of Gloucester to prospective summer residents in this most essential respect cannot be overestimated.

The public reservation of Mt. Anne and the contiguous basins of Haskell's pond and Dike's meadow form one of the finest woodland areas to be found in New England. They are approached from the roadway at West Gloucester, guide signs being placed at the roadways on Essex avenue. Mt. Anne and this district is reached from New Way lane. A day's visit here with a luncheon hamper is a most pleasurable experience. A five-cent fare from any point in East Gloucester or Squam and city proper will take the excursionist to this section. Motors can go direct to Haskell's pond and quite a distance up New Way lane.

Dancing is enjoyed every Saturday evening and all are looking forward to the annual ball to be held some time in August.

The new tennis Court at Turk's Head Inn is one of the finest on the North Shore.

The Granite Shore hotel of Rockport is making a specialty of excursion parties for its guests. A trip to Thacher's Island and an inspection of the lighthouses was taken one day last week by eighteen guests.

Another party enjoyed the trip around the Cape and a number of guests were taken in the North Shore drive to Magnolia and Manchester.

Mrs. Emma Winsor-Miller and mother, Mrs. Stone, of Norwood, R. I., are guests of Mrs. Albert W. Lane, corner Mt. Pleasant and High streets.

AUTOMOBILISTS, ATTENTION!

The attention of all automobilists is called to the following provisions of the Revised Laws of Massachusetts Relative to Motor Vehicle Laws, Acts of 1909, Chap. 534, Section 14:

SECTION 14. Every person operating a motor vehicle shall bring the vehicle and the motor propelling it immediately to a stop when approaching a horse or other draft animal being led, ridden or driven, if such animal appears to be frightened and if the person in charge thereof shall signal so to do; and, if travelling in the opposite direction to that in which such animal is proceeding, said vehicle shall remain stationary so long as may be reasonable to allow such horse or animal to pass; or, if travelling in the same direction, the person operating shall use reasonable caution in thereafter passing such horse or other animal. In approaching or passing a car of a street railway which has been stopped to allow passengers to alight or embark, the operator of every motor vehicle shall slow down and if it be necessary for the safety of the public he shall bring said vehicle to a full stop. Upon approaching a pedestrian who is upon the travelled part of any way and not upon a sidewalk, or where the operator's view is obstructed either upon approaching an intersecting way or a curve or corner in a way, every person operating a motor vehicle shall slow down and give a timely signal with his bell, horn or other device for signalling:

Provided, that in the thickly settled parts of a city or town no bell, horn or other device for signalling shall be sounded so as to make a harsh, objectionable or unreasonable noise, except in the case of fire and police department vehicles and ambulances; and provided, further, that no operator of any motor vehicle shall at any time permit any unreasonable amount of smoke to escape from said motor vehicle, nor shall said operator at any time permit said motor vehicle to make any unnecessary noise, by cutting out the muffler, or otherwise.

The driver of any motor vehicle on any highway approaching a crossing of ways, shall slow down and keep to the right of the intersection of the centres of both ways, when turning to the right, and shall pass to the right of the intersection of the centres of said ways before turning to the left.

Per Order, CHARLES S. MARCHANT, City Marshal.

The Annisquam Region

At the Grand View the hotel is well filled and the season is a lively one. The Sunday evening concerts at the Grand View continue to be a most delightful feature. In the orchestra are two talented sons of proprietor J. Louis Publicover, who bid fair to make their mark in the musical world. Master Lewis Publicover, the violinist, who is but ten years old, handles that difficult instrument with a finish and execution which is remarkable for one of his years. His rendition of Paderewski's well known minuet was characterized with a delicate phrasing which brought out the beauties of the composition. The other son, Reginald, is an expert clarinetist. The program Sunday was especially pleasing as follows:

Evening Star from Tannhauser.....Wagner
Orchestra
Humoreske.....Dvorak
Miss Huff
Spring Song.....Mendelssohn
Mr. Carl Berube
Angel's Serenade.....Brag
Master Lewis Publicover
Contralto Solo, "Go To Sleep,".....

Among the families returning to the Grand View for their third season is that of C. A. George of Elizabeth, N. J.

Deep sea fishing parties are the vogue at the Grand View, Ipswich bay furnishing fine fishing grounds. A party from the house went out into the bay Wednesday and landed nearly 250 pounds, the largest fish being taken by Miss Harriet Arthur. The party included Mr. Parsons, Mr. George, Mr. Heath, Mr. Hesse, Mrs. Arthur and Miss Harriet Arthur, Mr. Harrison, Mr. Holbrook, George A. Smith and Dr. Frederick Rose.

Mrs. C. F. Porter and Miss M. E. Porter of Cambridge, who have been making a July stay at the Grand View, are at that hostelry for the third season.

A party from Berlin, Can., who will remain until September at the Grand View include, Mrs. Bowlby and Miss Fennell.

Mr. and Mrs. George A. Heath and family and Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Hesse and family are New Yorkers making a season's stay at the Grand View.

Alex. P. Holbrook of Newark, N. J., has been sojourning at the Grand View for a few weeks.

Mrs. E. A. Wallace and Ida F. Wallace of Nashua, N. H., have been making the Grand View their stopping place for several weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Russell of Somerville are among the recent guests at the Grand View.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Garland Stahl and Miss Adelaide Mahn of Boston are registered at the Grand View for the rest of the season. Mr. Stahl needs no introduction to that large element of our readers who are interested in the national game as the former manager of the Boston Red Sox. Since relinquishing the managerial reins of the Boston team Mr. Stahl has come to Squam for a rest and is enjoying himself quietly. Motoring is his chief diversion and the fine roads of the North shore, than which none are superior and few equal in the world, affords the opportunity to indulge in this diversion at its best. There is talk of getting the ex-player to umpire some of the games in the Hammond league.

A Philadelphia party enjoying a stay at the Grand View include Misses Adelaide B. and Laura V. Stutvan.

Mrs. J. K. Fuller of New York has joined her daughters Mrs. Heath and Mrs. Hesse at the Grand View.

THE TIDE WILL TURN AT LAST

A fisher's boat was sailing home
Against the briny blast,
About her bow big waves did foam,
Loud creaked her tapering mast;
But though the night was drawing nigh,
And clouds were scudding fast,
Right cheerily did the skipper cry—
"The tide will turn at last."

When on life's ocean wide I sail,
And skies be overcast,
Dark trouble's gusts around me wail,
My shallop is harassed;
And, yet, I battle slowly on,
Until the storm be past,
For well I know, though light is gone,
The tide will turn at last.

'Tis this that nerves my wearied arm
While on life's sea I toss,
Though every billow may alarm,
And threaten me with loss;
Though waves of fear rise dark and high,
And wildly shriek the blast,
I beat ahead and storms defy—
The tide must turn at last.

—Rufus Root.

The Annie Maria Lane Memorial Window in Annisquam Church.

idence in its settings and surroundings. It bears evidence of the care and good taste of its owner and occupant for many years, Mrs. A. Maria Lane, with whose name that of Annisquam church is indelibly connected. With ample means, during a long life, Mrs. Lane devoted herself unostentatiously to doing good right at her doors and also in the large field of Gloucester town. Many there are who have felt the quiet, timely and unsought, but none the less grateful touch of her kindly hand and sympathetic voice for the need was apparent to her before it was pointed out. In the city she filled a large place in its social and charitable affairs and was from its inception one of the principal members and directing and organizing force of the Women's Auxiliary to the Addison Gilbert hospital, an organization which in ten years of existence has earned $23,000 for the support of that institution the greater part in Mrs. Lane's life time.

The Annisquam church was Mrs. Lane's especial care and pride. Every year she interested the summer people among whom her friends were legion in the midsummer fair for the benefit of the church and the result was that a large fund was raised for the support of the institution. At Christmastide she actively directed and marshalled the forces of the church for a festival and the generous tree bore in its ample branches substantial tokens of her thoughtfulness for every person in the village. Her benefactions were of every day and she took no heed of the morrow. At her death it was found that practically her all had been given during her lifetime to charity. Who may measure the extent of the good accomplished by such a life?

To perpetuate her memory in this church, in which much of her life was centered, her sister, Mrs. Marcia Simpson, wife of Hon. George Frederick Simpson of Newton, who make the old place their summer home, has placed a fine memorial window in the church occupying a left central station. It measures twelve feet long by four feet wide and is accounted one of the finest examples of the stained glass makers' art in its beauty of conception and harmonious blending of colors in this country. The subject is the three Marys at the tomb of Christ after the Resurrection. The inscription is, "In memory of Annie Maria Lane."

As long as this little church shall endure this memorial will remain a beautiful reminder of a beautiful life.

This church is historic. Originally it was the Fourth parish of Gloucester, of the Congregational denomination. Shortly before and after the Revolution the wave of liberal thought, which was afterwards to influence so deeply the religious trend of New England, had what might be termed its beginnings in Gloucester—a theological fact overlooked by the historians of this movement. Rev. John Murray first preached and established Universalism in Gloucester. The pastor of the Annisquam church, Rev. Ezra Leonard, became converted to these liberal views. He was held in the highest esteem by his congregation. Regretfully he announced one Sunday that he could conscientiously serve them no longer as he had been converted to the ideas of Rev. Mr. Murray and Universalism. But the congregation to a man implored him to stay. A creed good enough for their pastor was good enough for them and so the whole congregation went over en masse to the Universalists. Rev. Mr. Leonard was a man who endeared himself to his people in many ways. In order to be of service he studied medicine and ministered in body and mind to his people without fees save what could be afforded for support of preaching, for many years. He came to them in 1804 and served until his death in 1834.

The accompanying half-tone of the house and church is from a photograph of Mrs. Martha H. Harvey of Annisquam and effectively reproduces the scene at its best.

At the Barnacle on Wednesday, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Woodbury of East Gloucester, entertained their guests, Miss Owens and Miss Bancroft of Savannah. Miss Theodora Woodbury and Miss Estabrook were of the party.

Among the many other guests who have found a comfortable corner on The Barnacle veranda to watch the boating and the gaiety on the river are Mr. and Mrs. Cortlandt Van Ranssaeler of Stockbridge, Mr. C. D. Johnstone of the Moorlands, Miss Kimball, Mrs. George Gregory and her friends, Miss Meeks and Miss Fleet of Richmond.

Mrs. Julius F. Rabardy of Manchester was afforded a surprise on her 80th birthday last Sunday at her camp, "Dieppedale," in the mill colony, on her return from church she found the house filled with her children, grandchildren and great grandchildren to the number of eighteen. The dinner table was loaded with many good things including the birthday cake with a candle for every ten years of her life. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Rabardy, Miss Etta Rabardy, Frank Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Floyd, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Floyd, Bertram Floyd, Frank Floyd, Miss Grace Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Smith, Raymond Smith, Miss Elinor Smith and Miss Doris Smith.

Arrivals at the Brynmore:—Frederick D. Rose, Muncie, Ind.; Eudora Anderson, Mildred Anderson, Boston; Miss Nan V. Oglevee, Evanston, Ill.; Miss Ethelberta Williams, Grand Rapids, Mich.; Mrs. F. Alcott Pratt, Louise Alcott Pratt, Frederick Woolsey Pratt, Concord; Mrs. F. Gordon Brown, New York; Dr. and Mrs. Hartshorn, Brookline.

Mrs. H. C. Harrison of Lockport, N. Y., is making a July stay at the Grand View.

A valued patron at the Grand View returning for her tenth season is Mrs. C. B. Arthur of Cleveland.

A party from the middle west who are returning for their second season to enjoy the delights of Annisquam with headquarters at the Grand View include Mrs. H. A. Cowing, Rachel Cowing of Muncie, Ind., Miss Anna Van Kooten and Mrs. John H. Frey of Cincinnati.

ROCKHOLM

Annisquam's Most Eligibly Situated Section
Appealing to all Lovers of the Picturesque and Beautiful

Annisquam, beloved of artists, and all to whom the picturesque and beautiful in nature appeals, has come into its own. For several years past it has experienced a constantly growing prosperity and cottage accommodations have been at a premium.

Consequently its growth is inevitable and must be along the lines of the most eligibly situated sites. This is concededly along the tract known as Rockholm. Here the hotel of the future will be located and here is the natural site for the purpose.

It would be difficult to find any given locality which combines so much that is desirable as Rockholm. Other places have many features to commend them; few have all.

First the view. Concededly that at Squam is one of the finest on the coast. The noble Ipswich bay, with the far background of the Essex hill on one side and on the other the New Hampshire and Maine coast, with the noble dome of Agamenticus rising out of the sea to the north. Then in the middle foreground the finest beach along the coast, Coffin's or as latterly named, Wingersheek beach, two miles long, 600 feet wide, hard white sand. Then the river winding sinuously in and out to Gloucester harbor. All this affords sailing, deep water and enclosed, and bathing on clean white sand right at hand. The bay nearby abounds with fish and lovers of deep sea fishing can pursue this diversion to their heart's content. Here is a home of yachting. The land itself is naturally drained, the health conditions could not be bettered. The car service is to the village but not of it. The utilities service, water, electric lighting and other municipal accommodations are of the best. Nature and man have combined to supplement each other in making for everything that is desirable. Point for point, Annisquam invites comparison within all that makes a summer residence desirable. Its yacht club house furnishes the gathering place of the colony.

Rockholm is the cream of Annisquam. It is controlled by residents of Squam who have the good of the place at heart and are developing the tract along the right lines. Motorists should continue through the village and skirt this property or better look up Walter O. Adams, the managing director and secure a personal escort. Mr. Adams' office is in the village and he is pleased to be of service.

HIS LAST VOYAGE

(Charles Knowles Bolton in The Independent.)

Into the silent night we sped,
With black before and black astern;
Round the bows a mighty churn
Boiled the foam, and aft it led
Back into the silent night.

Close we sat by the helm, and smoke
Turned in our pipes to fire; the blast
Whipped the shrouds on the creaking mast;
No one moved while the captain spoke;
Close we sat by the helm.

"This is the night, my boys he said,
"When sailors, clad in their graveclothes, rise
Stiff with brine in their glassy eye,
Bidding us pray for the sea-swept dead;
This is the night, my boys.

"Bravest of hearts may quail, 'tis so,
When some poor fellow's dying cry
Rings aloud from the depths that lie
Choked with sea-wreck there below;
"Bravest of hearts may quail.

"Ay, my boys, I know the note,
Tolled by the waves in the dark unseen
Across the water cold and green,
Rung from the reef-bell's rusty throat;
Ay, my boys, I know.

"Pray, good lads, for the dead," he sighed,
Just as a bell rang low and clear;
Quick came the boom of brakers near—
Then we struck, as the captain cried:
"Pray, good lads, for the dead."

A fine concert program was given by Sewall's orchestra at the Hawthorne Inn casino last Sunday, the program being as follows:—

1. March, Celebra
2. Selection, Bohemian Girl
3. Young Werner's Parting Song, Mr. Moore.
4. The Roses Honeymoon, from Stabat Mater
5. Inflammatus, Mrs. Ellis.
6. Selection, Rigoletto
7. Waltz, from Romeo and Juliet

Some of the "younger set" of Hawthorne Inn and vicinity enjoyed a "clam bake" on above date at Brace's Rocks. Mrs. O. G. Howard of the Inn was chaperone, and Mr. Richard O. Allen, the swimming master, was "chef."

Among those participating were Dr. and Mrs. Anspäcker, Mrs. Seeley, Mr. John Thompson and friend, Douglas McReynolds of Chicago, Miss Ruth Gardner, Robert Treat and William Greeley of Providence, Miss Elizabeth Webb, Miss Helen Maybrother of Louisville, Jack Denison of Baltimore, Miss Flores Howard of New Orleans, Mr. Mathews of New York, and Jack Moffett of Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Rutherford Rose, Miss Jane M. Rutherford, Mrs. Oliver and children are a well known Richmond family making their first stay at the Harbor View.

Indoor golf is a popular diversion at the Rockaway and at a tournament competed this week Herbert Miller of Chicago won first gentleman's prize, second being taken by Charles Westcott of New York. Mrs. Jones S. Fulton of Chicago, won the first lady's trophy and Mrs. Albert Hard of Milwaukee second. The consolation prizes were won by Albert Hard and Mrs. William Hedderly of Worcester.

Arrivals at the Orchard House, Rocky Neck, for the week:—Allen H. Josselyn, Mrs. A. C. Cowhead, Boston; Miss Owland, Newton; Mr. and Mrs. Fred S. Gaines, Hartford; Mariam Gilduff, Montreal.

The $100,000 yacht, "Constellation," owned by Francis Skinner of Dedham, Mass., is on the Marine Railway at Rocky Neck, receiving a coat of paint. She attracted much interest from the summer colony.

The Izaak Waltons of the Rockaway, Prof. Pabodie of Cincinnati, John S. Blank of Winchester, and L. J. Smith of Jenkintown, made a trip to the fishing grounds Wednesday and caught 250 pounds of fine cod and haddock which were brought home and dressed. Mr. Smith was high line catching sixteen in number thereby wresting the honors from Prof. Pabodie who for some years past has upheld his title as the champion amateur fisherman of East Gloucester. Prof. Pabodie will endeavor to regain his laurels.

Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Jenkins, Miss Louise, Grace, Ellen, Alfred Jenkins are a Richmond family at the Rockaway for the third season.

ROCKHOLM

IN ANNISQUAM

To those who have not experienced the joys of a summer at Annisquam the following will be interesting and valuable.

ANNISQUAM has had a growth, especially during the past ten years, that has achieved the ideal combination for the summer home—beauty, cool comfort and simplicity with residences of high class. The best residential sections are reached by roads hidden from the casual tourist and for this reason the attractiveness of these sections is, perhaps, not fully realized.

ROCKHOLM is a large and beautiful tract, naturally and usually adapted for fine summer homes. Every site is one of independent and varied attraction. The open sea, hills, rocks and woods give their best to Rockholm. Fine roads wind through this property from which the beauties of Annisquam may be seen at their best.

In Municipal Council, July 25, 1913. Taken from table and adopted.

A true copy, Attest:

JOHN J. SOMES, City Clerk.

Section 19, Chapter 719, Acts of 1913, Relative to Municipal Indebtedness.

SECTION 19. Within ninety days after the passage of this act the city council or other governing body of every city, except Boston, shall give a public hearing in regard to establishing a tax limit for that city. The time and place of holding such hearing shall be duly advertised and, after the hearing, any city, except Boston, may provide by ordinance that the taxes assessed on property therein exclusive of the state tax and other amounts assessed upon the city by the commonwealth, the county tax and sums required by law to be raised on account of the city debt, shall not in any year succeeding the adoption of such ordinance exceed an amount specified in the ordinance on every one thousand dollars of the average of the assessors' valuation of the taxable property therein for the preceding three years, such valuation being first reduced by the amount of all abatements allowed thereon previous to the thirty-first day of December in the year preceding said assessment; and the tax limit so established by ordinance shall have the force of law until it is annulled or modified by the action of the city council or other governing body of the city. After such ordinance has been established it shall not be annulled or modified within one year thereafter, and then only after a public hearing, duly advertised, and by a two-thirds vote of the city council or other governing body of the city.

In the handicap match competition from July 16th to 19th, in the first sixteen the prizes were won by Mr. Sidney Farmworth of Memphis, Tenn., and Mr. Winthrop Sargent of Phila., respectively, second sixteen by Mr. James Smithwick of Memphis, Tenn., and Mr. Rathbone, a guest of the Moorland.

The regular Saturday Tea was served by Mrs. Thorndike Howe of Lawrence, who was assisted by her two sisters, Mrs. Katherine Drinker and Mrs. Winthrop Sargent, Jr.

Mrs. Joseph O. Proctor, Jr., and Mrs. Allen Farmer of Boston, gave a six table bridge party and served tea and lemonade to thirty guests on the twenty-first of July.

Mrs. Erben of Schenectady, N. Y., a guest at Hawthorne Inn, gave a party of bridge and tea to eight, on the twenty-first.

The club held an evening bridge on the twenty-second and had fourteen tables and served fancy ices, cakes and coffee as refreshments.

Mrs. Charles Webb of Baltimore gave a bridge and tea party to thirteen guests on the twenty-third.

Thursday evening Mrs. Edward Vickery of Baltimore entertained at bridge followed by a lobster supper, a number of intimate friends. Among others were the General and Mrs. Reid from Eastern Point, being present.

The Hawthorne Inn adds to its list of distinguished guests, the names of Hon. John A. Dix and Miss Dix of Thomson, N. Y.; Mr. Dix is the ex-governor of the state of New York.

Episcopal services are held regularly Sundays at eleven a. m. in the Hawthorne Inn Casino, Rev. John McGaw Foster of Church of the Messiah, Boston, being priest in charge.

Mr. Scott O'Conner and his brother, Robert O'Conner of New York, are among the Inn's most enthusiastic yachtsmen this season.

"Full house, sorry but down the road" is the doleful message dealt out to late arrivals not previously booked at the Inn this season.

The Card Carnival held Friday evening last in the Hawthorne Inn Casino for benefit of the Mountain Whites of Kentucky, was largely attended and in every way a success, forty-five tables were in use and over 180 guests patronized the event.

Mrs. Piper won the first prize for Bridge, having a score of 2040.

Mr. Bottome, a guest of the Rathbones at Eastern Point, won the men's prize, score 2167.

At the close of the party all sang "Kentucky Home" and "Dixie," Mrs. Fairfax of Washington singing the solo parts, Mrs. Vickery of Baltimore accompanying at the piano. Such enthusiasm was shown that a second carnival, to be held August 11th, was pledged. In a speech by Hon. James A. Brodhead of South Bethlehem, Pa., the worthiness of Mr. James Thompson, for many years a faithful employee of the Hawthorne Inn, was set forth as the proper beneficiary for the proceeds of the next party. Lemonade and punch were served. Mrs. Wm. Harcourt presided over the whole proceeding as chairman of the committee.

A class in modern one-step, tango and "turkey-trot" dancing has been formed and regular meetings are held in the Casino.

The tennis courts at the Hawthorne Inn have been thoroughly renovated and smoothed with gravel and are much in demand by lovers of the sport. Some interesting tournaments are shortly expected. Among the enthusiasts of this game are Mr. Carter Wilder of Kansas City, Dr. Wm. R. P. Emerson of Boston and Mr. Stephen Vickery of Baltimore.

Much enthusiasm is being shown by employees of the Inn since Mr. Stacy gave permission to use the old Colonial Arms tennis court. These are now in process of renovation and it is expected much healthful pleasure will soon be found by the devotees of this form of exercise.

Charles D. Bingham of Watertown has joined his family at the Rockaway for the rest of the season.

MIRAGE

Clear shining through the swimming air,
Across a stretch of summer seas,
Far lofty peaks gleam white and fair—
The heights of the Hesperides.
O far-off peaks! O happy isles!
I sail and sail and long for you
And still the enticing vision smiles
To lure me o'er the waters blue.
Below those fair and gleaming heights
Ne'er shrouded o'er by drifting snows
Lie gardens filled with rare delights
And there the golden apple grows.
I sail and sail and long for you,
But never come to those fair isles;
Still stretches wide the boundless blue
Forever still the scene beguiles.
Unclimbed those lofty mountain heights,
Far off beyond the smiling seas,
Unreached the garden of delights,
Untrodden, the Hesperides.

Edith Sessions Tupper.
